In this, the first new year of peace, the attention of all is centered on the future and the promise that it holds. Our world is gradually emerging from the overhanging clouds of chaos and disillusionment into the warming strength of the Sun, which shines over the earth and dispels the chill fear of death. In the illuminating brilliance of this Sun of Peace, we begin to see our mistakes and failures, and thus armed, plan to attain our ultimate goal of peace and fellowship.

As the graduating class of 1946 goes hesitantly forward into the bright and hopeful dawn of a newly-born world, the actions of those who have passed before us mark the road which leads to the molding of a decent society for future generations. Their unselfish sacrifice and visionary effort are ever the sentinel beacons of light, pointing the way toward our yet unrealized ideals and aspirations. With God's help we will march victoriously . . . INTO THE SUN.

Office Attendants . . .

Miss Elizabeth R. Turner, Registrar, and her student assistants are pictured at work in the main office. Valuable experience in general office work including switch board and receptionist training can be acquired through working in school offices.

Mrs. Clara McClary, Clerk, Mr. Harley Stech, Comptroller, with the help of students manage the sale of tickets, payment of fees and the many other duties of the Book Store.

Miss Bernice Fiedler, Attendance Clerk, has these student helpers during the day. Their work consists of checking the attendance of the entire student body.

Art . . .

Miss Flora Sanderson, head of the Art Department

Interior Decorating Class. Industrious pupils—Carol Lutz and Roy Granberg.

Riley's Art Department has a twofold purpose, one of appreciation and the other of working toward a finer achievement of participation in the various fields of art.

The Junior High students are given opportunities to attempt many things: design, figure drawing, landscape, flowers, animals, perspective, creative findings, and posters in which they express desired objectives of better living. They are given a chance to handle both tempera and transparent watercolor. The goal here is to arouse interest in the field and help the student realize talent.

Art I and II give further opportunity for varying the field, promoting imagination and developing skills in various renderings.

Further than this students elect Costume Design, Interior Decoration, and Commercial and Advanced Art.

An attempt is made in all classes to create and promote an eye-openness or alertness to present day art as it is related to present day lives.

These eighth grade boys seem more interested in the camera than in art.

Business . . .

Business Education complements and contributes to one's general education and serves both personal and occupational needs. No person, regardless of his age, his profession, vocational, economic, or social status can escape daily contacts with business. One of the purposes of this department, then, is to help students participate intelligently in those contacts and to be enlightened and wise consumers of business activities and services.

Moreover, recognizing that every individual must be able to earn a living, as well as to live, and that the "good life" is scarcely possible without economic well-being, the Business Education Department gives those students interested in finding employment in offices and stores certain necessary skills, information and attitudes that will enable them to gain initial employment and continue it satisfactorily.

English . . .

Setting thought to words and words to thought is fundamental to all advance in education. Since language is man's greatest social asset, the most useful of all tools, it is the chief medium of educated life and the basic tool for self improvement.

At Riley, as throughout the state, three years of English are required for graduation and four in most places for college entrance. In addition to the required courses, the curriculum provides seven elective courses in twelfth grade. Highly recommended are History of English Literature and Creative Expression.

Although there are many subsidiary subjects such as grammar, rhetoric, spelling, journalism, vocabulary, library instruction, and history of literature, English has two main divisions: composition and literature. It is the aim of the courses through these two channels to develop the student's ability and character by training him in thought building, and expression.

As a student's success or failure in all academic subjects is determined largely by his ability to grasp the thought of the printed page, English is requisite for all courses in the curriculum. It is the key to our splendid heritage of one of the richest literatures the world has ever known.

Foreign Language . . .

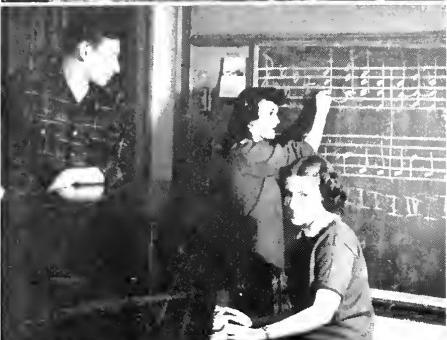

Riley's language department, enrolling approximately one-third of the student body, offers rich and varied opportunities for cultural growth, as well as practical tools for a livelihood. In the Spanish and French courses, students learn the enchantment of reading, speaking, and writing another language; they sing the songs and study the customs and character of France, Spain, and our southern neighbors. In Latin students acquire a valuable aid for their comprehension of English, as well as an understanding of the history and culture of the ancients, so much of which has become our national heritage. The study of both ancient and modern languages and cultures is essential if we wish to understand the world today and contribute to its peace and welfare.

Music . . .

At present a large percentage of the Riley High School student body participates in the musical activities offered. It is the belief of the department that the music in the high school should be primarily for the enjoyment and satisfaction of all students. Musical experiences develop cooperation, good attitudes, recognition of individual differences and controlled emotional responses. Through the medium of music the department hopes to create a fuller and richer life for the individual student.

Guidance . . .

With the new complexity of life facing every student in school, a department has been provided to assist the pupil to have full benefit of the educational and vocational opportunities afforded him. Without guidance in planning a high school program, many students, instead of making the most of the courses offered, would come to the end of their schooling with very little to prepare them for a bright future.

The Guidance Department consists of a head counselor and a grade counselor for each class division. The counselor is happy to help each student with all problems, whether social or educational, that normally confront the average student. One problem which faces many seniors is the problem of college. Advice on entrance and scholarships available may be obtained through this medium.

Library . . .

Miss Naomi Pehrson.

The program of library routine at Riley has been planned to assure many library activities, to serve as a laboratory for classroom needs, to show the desirability of books in all libraries as companions for leisure, and at the same time to foster a close relationship to the social ideas and educational philosophy of the school. The library is a place in which students have experiences which will encourage growth in aesthetic appreciation, a broadening and deepening of interests, and an increase in social understanding.

From all parts of the school, pupils, teachers, committees, classes, and individuals go to the library to use books, magazines, pictures and maps; to find facts and illustrative materials; to read. The library is the universal laboratory of our school.

Home Economics . . .

Standing—Miss Pearl Sellars and Miss Katherine Dennis. Seated—Miss Jean McAlpine, Miss Martha Frueh, and Miss Grace Marshall, cafeteria head.

Riley's Home Economics department has as its goal the development of persons capable of shaping for themselves a satisfying personal, home and community life, together with the ability to cooperate in a satisfactory manner with larger social groups in the community.

A general objective is to help students do better those things they do day by day and to guide them in developing competent thought and action in making decisions in regard to current personal and home living problems.

The courses offered in Home Economics provide experiences in many phases of homemaking activities which will increase knowledge, develop skills and techniques, establish attitudes, ideals and values fundamental to fine family and community life.

T squares and compasses, instruments of Mechanical Drawing class. The cigar box is only to hold pencils.

Horyath and Medich seem intrigued by the complexities of Machine Shop.

"This has been called the mechanical age. Machinery is everywhere. Practically all of the necessities and the luxuries of life are made by machinery.

"In thousands of factories foodstuffs are refined and prepared, fabrics are woven, pages are printed, and wood, plastics and metal are fitted to make the furnishings of civilization. Everywhere factories are building labor-saving devices for the homes and workshops and building other devices for the education, recreation, and prosperity of the people. But without the mechanic there could be no engines or dynamos to furnish the power, there could be no machines because the mechanic is the producer of them all."†

How true the above statements of Henry D. Burghardt are. There has and always will be a demand for skilled labor in industry. World War II caused leaders to realize that an adequate training program should be in process at all times. Millions of men had to be trained in a very short time to take care of national defense, so War Production Training classes were set up in which men were trained in many fields of skilled labor. Our own shops played an important part in this program.

The courses in the Department are flexible enough to take care of all types of boys and broad enough to fill the needs of all whether they want to go to college for Engineering, want to take up an apprenticeship course, or want the work just for a hobby.

Mathematics . . .

In this Atomic Era, a main factor contributing toward success and future progress is mathematics. No one in a day and age such as ours should be without a knowledge of mathematics. However vague a smattering one may have, he is still in the higher intelligence strata than one who is ignorant of the simplest working of mathematics. Our very existing curriculum is dominated by all kinds of mathematical branches—the symmetry of home and building depends on the constructor's geometric perfection, as much as the farmer's "egg money" is conformed to simple arithmetic. As Miss Bernice Clark, head of our mathematics department, says, "Mathematics figures in everything from philosophy to the Russian ballet."

The philosophy of the physical education staff at Riley is based on the principal that healthy minds, bodies and hearts are being built by boys and girls through their gym training.

It is the hope and sincere wish of the faculty that the students under them are developing a knowledge of and a desire for physical activity that will remain with them always and do much to make them healthier, happier, and better citizens.

Max Bullock, head of Physical Education Department at Riley, expressed this desire when he stated, "We hope that the gyms at Riley are places where the boys and girls can have a good time and let off that excess steam and energy."

In the last generation, science has greatly influenced the lives of people all over the world. The war was a scientific war; the peace is a scientific peace. New cars, plastics, nylons, medicines—all comforts of modern life—are products of scientific minds just as were atomic bombs, high-speed airplanes, and radar, which made masters of the battlefields.

Riley's Science Department is striving to train students in the fundamentals of science, and to acquaint them with the miracles science has wrought.

As Disraeli has said, "What art was to the ancient world, science is to the modern."

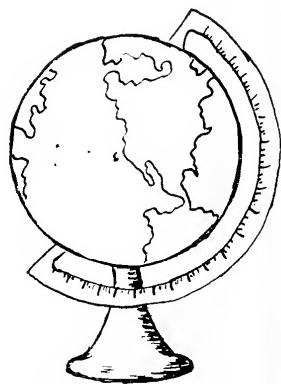

Social Studies . . .

Global Geography gives information on new air-age maps.

Human relationships, both past and present, is the interest of the Social Studies department. The study of how men lived together in times past is a major part of the course. Experiences of all nationalities are stressed.

Studying the past is not the limit, however, for present conditions are analyzed, and an attempt is made to understand and improve existing social institutions. It is the hope of the department that the relation of past events to the present will aid in the solution of present and future problems. Mr. H. H. Ogden, head of the department, believes that only through such study can there be developed an educated citizenry capable of giving direction to the American way of life.

Custodial Service . . .

Mr. Walter Clark
Chief Engineer

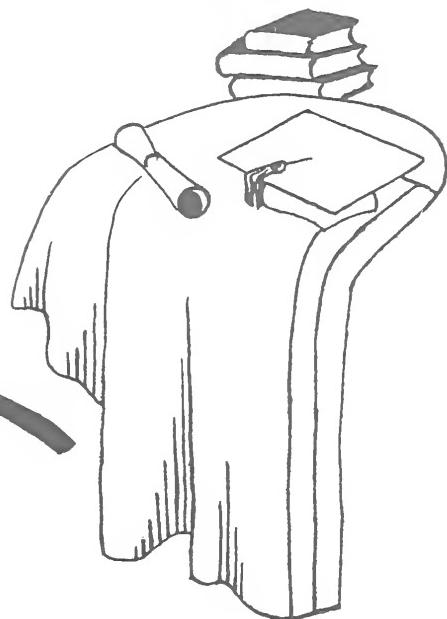

Maintenance miracles — clean halls, swept floors, regulated heat, building ready for use day and night, healthful surroundings, courteous service—may be attributed to Mr. Walter Clark, head engineer, and his energetic staff of six custodians. This unit performs its duties in an unassuming, yet efficient manner, and contributes much to the smooth running of the school.

Mrs. Nellie Feece, who had served the school for several semesters, died during the last year.

Seniors . . .

Yes, the time has come. We've toiled and slaved for four long years and at last we have reached the high point of our high school careers — our senior year. Yet, it is with a certain unexpected feeling of regret that we observe the fast-approaching date of graduation, for it has not been all work. We have known a great deal of pleasure within these walls.

Remember when last fall we formed our class constitution and elected our officers? Remember the good time we had at the All-City Prom, dancing to the sweet and low-down strains of Bud Simpson's orchestra? For the Senior A's January was more than the beginning of a new year, it was the beginning of a new life. Their tea on January 8, cap and gown day January 11, and Baccalaureate January 13 were climaxed by Commencement on January 16. In the Senior Assembly, Gene Baney, Marvin Borri, Virgil Henderson, Tom Halloran, and other members of the class said goodbye to the school in a humorous sketch of future life at Riley. Bob Priebe thrilled the audience with the class poem, Gloria Kelly delivered the farewell address, and Joan Knapp presented the class hopes for the future in her valedictory address.

February 16th—a red letter day on Riley's social calendar. The walls shook, the plaster fell, and the windows broke! An explosion? Well, almost. The Atomic Bounce! Door prizes, four-star entertainment, and soft strains from Richardson's Rascals high-lighted the evening. Riley will never recover and we will never forget this occasion.

April brought more than spring showers this year, for on April 5th and 6th the curtain rose on the mammoth production Arms and the Man, starring Jack Merriam, Rosemary Treacy and Ann Schwertley. Both actors and directors received the whole-hearted acclaim of the audience.

The last days of our stay at Riley were busy ones for all of us; Sears Day, Prom, Senior Tea, exams, Baccalaureate, Commencement, and a never-to-be-forgotten Senior assembly! They were a perfect ending for a year of memories — a fitting final chapter in our long but happy school life. Now we go forward . . . Into the Sun . . .

*Social Committee
Chairmen*

Riley's Social Committee, a group which has more than warranted previous publicity, has been the guiding hand behind many a school social affair in the last year.

The delegates (one from each sponsor room) have Miss Bertha Kiel as their sponsor and have come to be invaluable as the planners and co-ordinators of class dances and parties.

Senior B's . . .

The hum of activity in the Riley hive during the last year has been intensified by the efforts of the lively Senior "Bees." Although the class consists of but two sponsor rooms it has more than made up in energy what it lacks in size. When the Red Cross sent out its appeal for funds and clothing, it was the January 1947 class that took the initiative at Riley and led in the collection of money and old garments for the starving population of Europe. In addition to their work in behalf of the Red Cross, the junior partner of the Senior Class helped a great deal in making the one and only Atomic Bounce go over with a bang.

Some people are inclined to think a mid-term graduating class is at a disadvantage. Not so, declare the Senior B's. They give for evidence the undeniable truth that a smaller class is capable of having more events in which everyone can participate than a larger class could possibly have. Memories of the good times they have had at the many picnics and parties which this class has sponsored will remain with those of this class as constant reminders of their happy school days.

The Senior B's are all looking forward to the day when they too, will wear the scholarly robe and cap of the graduate. They are working and preparing for the time when they shall leave Riley to take their places in the new and better world of tomorrow.

SENIOR

Watts, E. Zahrndt, V. Stone.

Members of the Junior class entrusted the piloting of their affairs to Mary Taylor, president; Harriet Lawson, vice-president; Andy Tompos, secretary; Lonnie Comegys, treasurer, and Phyllis Chidister, social chairman. Miss Martha Frueh kept the ship of state from going astray, until she resigned, and was succeeded by George Koch.

Highlight of the year was the Juniors' "Shamrock Shuffle" on March 12 in the gym. Mr. Richardson's crew kept things lively. The most ambitious of the eleventh graders were selling tickets to the event long before the day arrived. Everyone was on deck at 3:45, and all was bliss until the five o'clock whistle.

Next year they will be the Senior class! Already they are anticipating twelfth grade activities . . . perhaps a Student Court . . . class dance . . . prom . . . graduation problems . . . then into a new world.

Marriott, B. Nicodemus, B. Patton, M. Medich.

Sophomores . . .

The small, but oh so mighty, sophs are well acquainted with the beam of that spotlight of fame, for it has shone in their direction many times in the last year. Activities, athletics and musical organizations have all felt that lively, happy element among them that is the Sophomore Class.

10A—200—MISS MITCHELL

The tenth graders, who boast many outstanding personalities, chose Andy Hays, an up-and-coming basketball player, president. Piano-plucking Joan Gardner took over as vice-president, Julia Ann Sarber made a very competent secretary, Shirley Langwith was the financial wizard in her role as treasurer, and Louise Nall planned the social program for the year. For their class sponsor the sophs chose Miss Edith L. Steele. The outstanding social event was the Sophomore Spree on November 10 in the school gym. Andy Hays was chairman of the dance and the hep-happy sophomores jived and waltzed to Mary Lou Hall's band. There's a swell junior class in the offing!

Down on the bottom rung of the high school ladder is the "not-so-green" frosh class under the direction of President Roger Winters. To help President Winters in his office, Jim Axelberg was elected vice-president for the year, Sandra Null took up pen and ink in her position as secretary, while Janet Gaylor juggled the financial end as treasurer. Mr. Russell Rhodes promised to withstand the knocks and bumps of class sponsor with the assurance of a class cabinet, composed of two members from each sponsor room, standing solidly behind him. The cabinet capably aided the officers in laying plans for class activities during the year.

9B—101—MR. BONHAM

The brilliant rays of the sun warm the shivering universe,
Giving hope of a peaceful fulfillment of unpaid debt.
As starving Mother Earth rouses from a foul lethargy,
Nurturing her wracked body in the tranquil beams,
A narrow shaft of multiple color paints a brilliant splash
Over the mild, ethereal features of the sky.

Below the hardened clay reechoes the tramping of long-silenced boots,
Recalling hallowed memories of those
Who loved their liberty more than life,
And gave of their breath that the grim reflection
Of blood-red clouds might be swept away,
Revealing the ever-ascending road
To the higher plane of understanding, equality,
And toleration among the peoples of the world.

ACTIVITIES

Parent-Teacher Association . . .

"Together We Build for Democratic Living" has been the P. T. A. theme for the last year. This theme has been carried out in all meetings by panel discussions in which students participated.

First discussion, showing how democracy is practiced in the home, was given by twelfth grade students. The next showed how it would be possible to improve democratic living in the schools. In the January meeting, Mr. L. D. Waid, principal of the Harrison school, showed how we achieve democratic living in our community. Then, in the last discussion, the Junior East-West association showed how we hope to achieve democratic living throughout our shrinking world.

Through their theme, the P. T. A. hoped to bring into closer relation the home and the school, that parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in the training of the child.

The officers during the year were: President, Mrs. Walter L. Northrup; First Vice President, Mrs. A. D. Whitmer; Second Vice President, Mr. Russell Rhodes; Secretary, Mrs. E. P. Aldrich; Treasurer, Mrs. C. A. Burr; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. E. B. Murphy.

The responsibility of reaching every pupil in the school with the sale of war bonds and stamps fell upon the War Bond and Stamp Captains. It was through their work that the sales of bonds and stamps were successful.

War Bonds and Stamps . . .

After nearly four years of active service, the Riley Bond and Stamp division ceased operation on Friday, December 21, 1945, with the close of the National Victory Loan Drive. Sales for the four year period totaled $268,411.70—a record higher than that of any other local high school.

1942-43

In 1942-43, the first year of stamp sales, Bob Swantz and Dona Lou Wilson were heads of the division. Miss Edith L. Steele served as faculty advisor, a position she held throughout the war. That year Janice Carter and Lowell Gray were captains of sales teams which helped achieve $35,823—over seven times the $5,000 goal. Pearl Harbor Day, 1942, netted $2,100.30.

1943-44

Under the leadership of Annabelle King and Eddie Jordanich, with Dorothy Anderson as secretary, the total for the year was $71,338.35, or more than twice the sum of the previous season. An important feature of the year was the selection of Dick Ramhap and Jackie Dunnuck as king and queen of a May Day festival. On April 21, 1944, Riley was presented the "Schools-at-War" flag for 90% participation in monthly purchases.

Bob Priebe (right), 1944-45 chairman, congratulates Jim Felder upon his election as head for the final sales season.

1944-45

Riley's greatest total sales were recorded in 1944-45. Bob Priebe was chairman of sales, with Evelyn Wagner serving as secretary. A political campaign in connection with the presidential election saw the Republicans emerge victorious (in Riley, at least) by a score of $7,193.55 to $2,151.60 for the Democrats. Mary Hepler was selected prom queen in a contest which did much to raise the thermometer in the lower hall. Competition between boys and girls brought in $1,725.25, after which the school purchased eight Weasels in the Seventh War Loan Drive. Seventy-five thousand dollars had been established as that year's goal, but numerous campaigns and drives swelled the total to $150,000, again doubling the previous year's achievements.

Although the war ended during the summer, Jim Felder and Marilyn Wilson carried on with the Victory Loan, placing the emphasis upon the purchase of hospital units for wounded veterans. During this semester, Susan Block was presented with a "Flying Tiger" flag for having sold $4,200 worth of bonds and stamps. A special "We Finished the Job" insignia was added to the "Schools-at-War" flag. The total from September through December was $11,250.35.

While their fathers and brothers were giving their lives overseas, the students at Riley felt there was little they could do. One of their greatest efforts was the purchase of bonds and stamps. They are proud of their achievements, and especially proud of the leaders and organizers of the school sales. But they did more than back their country at war, and they shall continue to do more, so it truly can be said that "We Finished the Job."

Drama Club . . .

Whiteheaded Boy . . . A Christmas Carol . . . Arms and the Man . . . three outstanding productions which were fruits of the labors of Riley's Drama Club, under the direction of Mr. James Lewis Casaday.

Reorganized this year to afford more students the opportunity of participating in its varied activities, Drama Club upheld and strengthened it's traditional standards of fine plays. Under the guidance of a board of more than twelve students, the group enlarged its membership to include willing workers in art, costumes, production, lighting, etc., as well as in acting itself. Tryouts for prospective members were replaced by interviews with the board.

Strengthening of the Drama Club, introduction of Dramatics into the curriculum, and enlargement of the stage forecast a brilliant future for drama in Riley.

Hi-Y . . .

Hi-Y, the Y. M. C. A.'s program for high school boys, under the direction of Mr. Wilbur Campbell, has been among the most outstanding clubs at Riley. As it's purpose the club has this motto: "To create, to maintain, and to extend throughout our school high standards of Christian character." The main event on the Hi-Y social calendar was the annual city-wide Swingheart Sway on February 8.

Girl Reserves . . .

Although the Girl Reserves were without a faculty advisor most of the semester, the group thrived under the leadership of President Betty Lou Becker. Mary Walz was head until her January graduation. The Riley club cooperated with other county groups to make the Rain Drop Polka on April 26 a success.

Early in the year, the club sponsored a skit at Hering House to foster better understanding among all races. During Christmas vacation the club donated food, clothing, and gifts to the occupants of the Children's Aid Society home.

Physical Education - Athletic Director . . .

LUDE LUDEM—Riley High School's motto has been the guiding principle of Max Bullock ever since he came to Riley sixteen years ago as Physical Education Director and Athletic Director. "Max" as he soon came to be known by all students, faculty and community friends, has done a superb job of helping build the spirit of "PLAY THE GAME" which is characteristic of Riley teams, students and community athletic fans.

Max has believed that the school's obligation did not end with fielding a strong varsity of a few men—but rather in addition should foster a physical program that reaches every person in school, and if possible maintain recreational facilities for patrons of the district. Toward this end Max has always worked and devoted much of his time and effort, even going beyond his own physical endurance.

Riley athletics have always been under the wing of Max—filling the important duty of Athletic Director—arranging schedules which led to such heights as one N.I.H.S.C. football title in 1937, the runner-up in state basketball finals in 1945. To some, the task ends with the securing of games, but that is just the signal for Max to begin his work—the "little things" that must be done—secure the field—make arrangements as to who will be host—negotiate on which student body will sit on which side of the field—then the always important task of securing the best officials—these are only a few of the numerous tasks that fell to Max—the things that no matter how well done failed to gain the spotlight and glory that come with other assignments.

Gym exhibitions, which were discontinued during the war, were under his able direction, giving the community a chance to see the type of program carried on by gym classes and offering many students the chance to give a public performance.

"Max"

Furnishing clean uniforms for the students for each gym session is one of the ideas created by Max. The uniforms are washed in the school laundry and have done much to improve the physical well-being of the gym classes.

Today his program for gym classes touches every one and physical development is being stressed in place of games with only a few participating. He has always pushed a complete system of intramural sports. These fell into free periods, home room periods, noon hour, and Max spent much of the time that should have been free giving more students valuable experience in competitive sports.

At times when a coaching vacancy went unfilled along the Riley feeder system, it was Max who was called upon to handle the sport. Thus Max has had a hand in helping to develop the varsity men as well as the average student—giving every one of the boys a push has been his goal.

It has been a long time since Max took over the reins and Riley has come a long way with him behind the wheel to guide the physical and athletic program. It is difficult to see him leave—we only wish he could stay as long with us in the future as he has in the past. We of Riley will always consider him a personal friend—to every one he is and will remain—Max. To you, Max, we say, "Best of luck and we will be your true friend—always."

Cats ranked second in state—Coach Paul "Spike" Kelly's Riley Wildcats, by a vote of state football writers, are placed just behind East Chicago Roosevelt, the state champs, in the final listings of football power in Indiana.

Opening a very promising season at Gary, the boys from the south side, smelling their way through smoke and dust, hit the Wallace goal twice while the Hornets were stinging only once. The Cats opened the game with Jack Merriman and Co-Captain Mike Voynovich at the ends, Bill Wensits and Bob Hepler at the tackles, Joe Nafrady and Paul Zhiss working the guards and Bob Anderson at the pivot spot. In the backfield, Bob Mabry handled the signal-calling, Andy Tompos and Co-Captain Bob Hartman the halfback spots, while Harry Marnocha carried the ball from the fullback position. Hartman's passing and the line play of Voynovich and Zhiss were outstanding as the Wildcats whipped Lew Wallace 12-7.

On a rain soaked Tupper Field in Mishawaka the Wildcats racked up their first conference win of the year, whipping the Cavemen 21-6. Hartman set up two touchdowns with beautiful passes. Merriman, Eddie Leverette and Jim White, subbing for the injured Marnocha, scored the Wildcat touchdowns.

6-2 was the score of a terrific battle between LaPorte and Riley. The game was beautifully played with the Slicers playing inspired ball all the game. Tompos scored the Riley tally the first time the Cats had their hands on the ball.

The Eagles from Adams were next to fall to the Wildcat onslaught by the score of 41-6. The Cats' markers were chalked up by Merriman, White, Hartman, Mabry and two by Nandy Kertai. Art Derda kicked 4 out of 5 extra points.

After a week's layoff the Wildcats finally did it against Washington. The score was 6-0, just enough to put Riley in undisputed first place in the conference race. A long pass from Hartman to Tompos was good for the Riley score. The defensive play of Bill Wensits and Paul Zhiss was outstanding.

Against North Side of Fort Wayne the Cats had things just about their own way, winning 33-6. Hartman set up three touchdowns by his passing and scored one himself. Derda scored the fifth and kicked three extra points. Remember the spread formations the boys from F. W. used?

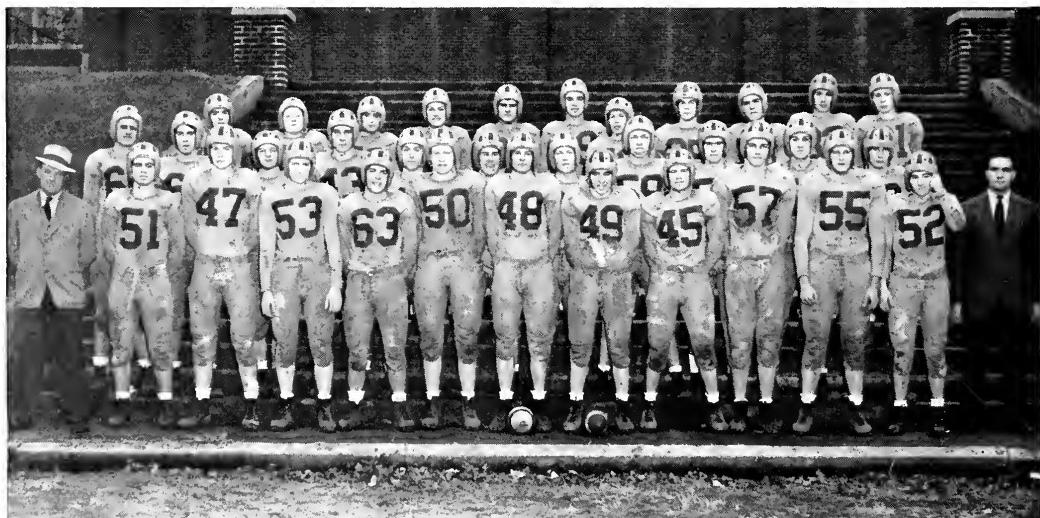

Another 33-6 score was rolled up against Michigan City on the next weekend. The touchdowns were racked up by White, two by Mabry and two by Tompos. Derda kicked three extra points.

In the final conference game of the year played in Notre Dame stadium, the Bears from Central eked out a 7-6 win over the Riley Wildcats. A pass from Hartman to Mabry set up the Cat score as White plunged over from the three. Later in the first period Flowers scored from the seven after Joe Deranek had pushed the ball deep into Riley territory. Dick Flowers calmly kicked the extra point that decided the game.

Down at Terre Haute the Cats concluded a very successful season by walloping Garfield, 23-7. All the boys showed very well as Hartman, Tompos and White scored for the Cats with Derda connecting on three extra points.

BASKETBALL

Above—J. Merriman, B. Ferency, N. Medich, T. Keiser, J. Keiser, B. Hartman, D. Cubbison.

The pressure of the community was on them; the fans just couldn't forget last year's team. Coach Wayne Wakefield and all the varsity Cats knew this fact very well when they began their campaign for '45-'46 hardwood fame. Considering that every other team in this part of the state was looking for Wildcat meat, the boys had a fine season.

Opening the season against the Panthers from Washington, the Wildcats received their first defeat in a double-overtime battle. Bob Hartman, starting where he left off last year, was high point man for the Cats.

Led by Nick Medich and Jack Merriman, the Riley bunch hit the road for Ft. Wayne and copped their first conference win 37-25 over a strong North Side quintet.

The Cats then rolled over two local foes in non-conference battles. Don Cubbison and Hartman led the way to a 36-32 win over Adams and a 41-38 conquest of the Bears from Central.

Pounding the Mishawaka boys under their own basket with fast plays by Merriman and Hartman, the Cats racked up conference win number two.

Packing up their belongings, the boys went south. It was really a fine trip but the games—Bosse of Evansville, yes the same team that beat us in the finals last year, and Jeffersonville showed an exhibition of southern basketball and we came back home defeated in two tough games.

The Holiday Tourney was really a joy; the boys looked fine, the weather was nice, and the nets looked swell draped in the Riley trophy case.

The Cats ushered in a brand new year with thrilling conference victories over Washington and Central. Bob Ferency and Tom Keiser coupled with Bob Hartman were just too much for the local rivals.

The nights of January 11 and 16 were disastrous for the Riley cause. Both nights the team traveled, both nights they played tough games, and the team lost conference games to LaPorte and Elkhart—to the Slicers 44-23, and to the Blazers 38-32.

Back on the victory path again, the Cats fashioned a 51-27 league win over Goshen while taking Plymouth and Rochester into camp in non-conference tussles.

At this place in the season Jim Welch and Cliff Foster were installed into the Riley lineup and the Cats began to rebound—they tapped the ball around the backboard almost continuously. These tactics paid off with a 61-45 conference win over Adams, a 59-34 conference win over Michigan City and a 47-39 victory over Culver, ah yes, the same team that went to the Semi's.

A league win over Nappanee concluded the regular season for the Cats. The boys looked great tuning up for the Sectionals. This victory put the Cats in undisputed second place in the Northern Indiana High School Conference.

At 1:30 p. m. on the afternoon of February 22 the Wildcats met the Eagles from Adams in the first round of Sectional play. After a very close 36 minutes of play the score read 36-36. In the overtime the Eagles hit twice while holding the Cats to no score.

This year Riley's basketball team played good, clean, determined games. At no time did anyone show himself to be anything but a good clean sport. A bad break in the Sectionals left the team short of the glory of last year but there is always next year. The Cats and Wayne Wakefield will have Jim Welch, Tom Keiser and Cliff Foster back for another season. And there will be every player from Greg Parker's Bee Team.

of Riley

This year, as in years before and in years to come, spring brought more than showers, sunshine, and fever. Yes, even before the April showers admitted that the sun was here to stay, the thud of horsehide against leather, the sharp crack of the bat, and the raucous cry "Stee-rike three, yer out" echoed in newly-mowed diamonds throughout the land to herald the coming of the great American pastime — baseball.

Riley's group of hickory-swinging mentors had a fine record behind them and a tough schedule ahead of them. Fifteen games faced the Riley nine this year, and the list of teams included many who always display a great deal of the spirit that makes for a thrilling game. Backed by the enthusiasm and spirit of the student body, they launched the season with great hopes.

This personal loan office is interested in having Riley students, the patrons, and the teaching staff of Riley High School become familiar with the Small Loan Business as one of the more important elements in the general field of Consumer Credit.

The Small Loan Business, licensed under special state charter, has been recognized by the various social and welfare agencies as filling an essential need in every community, relieving hardships and meeting financial emergencies which come at some time or other to nearly every family.
